

EAST INDIA COMPANY (BRITISH)

EAST INDIA COMPANY (THE BRITISH), a trading company incorporated on 31 December 1600 for fifteen years with the primary purpose of exporting the staple production of English woolen cloths and importing the products of the East Indies.

i. The Safavid period.

ii. The Afsharid, Zand, and Qajar periods.